Alpha Corporation and Staff Receive Industry Recognition from ACEC, AACE and ASPE

DULLES, VA – The Summer of 2011 has been a season of great achievements for Alpha Corporation and its staff at various industry forums. At the Annual Conference of the American Council of Engineering Companies of Metropolitan Washington (ACEC/MW) held on June 8, 2011, Alpha Corporation was awarded the “Member Firm of the Year Award”. This award recognizes a member firm with employees who attend association activities on a regular basis, actively participate in ACEC/MW's committees, take leadership roles within ACEC/MW, represent not only the firm, but ACEC/MW, at the National level, and serve as an advocate on behalf of the association and the industry. In addition, Joe Monahan, CPSM, Alpha Marketing Manager, was presented with the “President's Award” for outstanding service to the Chapter during the previous year as Chair of ACEC/MW's Programs Committee. This award recognizes the efforts and achievements of an individual who has served the association with commitment, purpose and leadership in every imaginable aspect during the past year helping to ensure the success of ACEC/MW.

At the 55th Annual Meeting of the Association for the Advancement of Cost Engineering (AACE) held on June 21, 2011 in Anaheim, California, Chris Carson, PSP, CCM, PMP, Alpha's Corporate Director of Project Controls, was selected as the 2011 recipient of the AACE “Technical Excellence Award.” This award honors and recognizes outstanding technical contributions to the organization by an individual in the project and cost management community.

At the Annual Convention of the American Society of Professional Estimators (ASPE) held on July 16, 2011 in Nashville, TN, Earl Rosenow, CPE, LEED® AP, Alpha Senior Estimator, was awarded the “Estimator of the Year, 2011” for his outstanding work on behalf of Alpha Corporation for the National Park Service on various facilities and monuments nationwide.
